Multisensory Curriculum

Some sessions in special schools can be really multisensory. Here is a video of learners experiencing a wonderful multi-sensory PE session.

So that these learners understand, the staff are taking a multisensory approach, using lots of visual prompts, sound props and movement to ensure that everybody gets something from the experience.

Your multisensory lessons may not be on a scale such as this. But, if we take a multisensory approach, varied learners at any age or ability will benefit more from the lesson. And it makes lots more fun.
